This never came to us - however, since the DCI put a note on it for us to take action, they decided to give us a copy. Would you log it in and assign action to Liaison - be sure all the buckslips are kept on it. Hetu's office is going to send us a copy of their letter to [REDACTED] which should go with this--rather should go to Liaison when it comes in. It will probably be addressed to me.

Admiral Stansfield Turner
Director
Central Intelligence Agency
Washington, D. C. 20505

Dear Stan:

Jim Creal, whom you know as Chairman of our Transportation Committee, was most impressed by your briefing on world energy conditions during our fine visit to the CIA last April. As President of the American Automobile Association, Jim feels it is important that your agency's grave view of the energy situation, as it relates to petroleum, be brought more forcibly to the attention of the motoring public.

On September 27 and 28, 1978, AAA's 76th annual meeting will take place in Houston. Some 1,000 officers and delegates from 210 clubs from around the United States and Canada are expected to attend. They formulate the policies of this 20-million-member organization.

The AAA meeting would seem to be an excellent platform for you to direct a message to the American public on the critical issue of petroleum availability. Not only would you be addressing an audience of community leaders and opinion makers from throughout the United States, you would be doing it in the most appropriate place of all, Houston, Texas, the very heart of the petroleum industry.

I am aware that Jim has written to request your participation as the main speaker on either the 27th or 28th of September. I urge that you accept this invitation if at all possible.

Sincerely,

Charles H. Percy

Dear Mr. Creal:

Admiral Turner has asked me to thank you for your letter of July 17th, and for your kind invitation for him to address the delegates to the American Automobile Association's Annual Meeting in September.

Unfortunately, the Director has so many events already scheduled for the rest of the year that it is impossible to take on any additional commitments. Additionally, he is scheduled to speak in Texas in late August and thus could not return in such a short time frame.

The Admiral appreciates your thinking of him and wishes you the best for a successful Annual Meeting.

Sincerely,

Herbert E. Hetu
Director of Public Affairs
